

What if you could live your life over?

Robin Hemley, Director of Nonfiction at the University of Iowa, is the winner of a Guggenheim Fellowship for his work on DO-OVER!: in which a forty-eight-year-old father of three returns to kindergarten, summer camp, the prom, and other embarrassments. Other Hemley publications include Turning Life Into Fiction (2006), Extreme Fiction: Fabulists and Formalists, anthology (with Michael Martone, 2004), Invented Eden: The Elusive, Disputed History of the Tasaday (2003), Nola: A Memoir of Faith, Art, and Madness (1998), The Big Ear, stories (1994), The Last Studebaker, a novel (1992), All You Can Eat, stories (1988), The Mouse Town, stories (1987).

Do-over!

in which a 48 year-old father of three returns to kindergarten, summer camp, the prom, and other embarrassments

a reading by Robin Hemley

April 21 5pm

UW-L Cleary Alumni Center

Contact Matt Cashion
for more information:
cashion.matt@uwlax.edu

This event is sponsored by the UW-L English Department

