Supervision of Student Teaching

CI-695

Now offered Fall and Spring Semesters
This 3-credit graduate course is designed to prepare in-service teachers to serve as a cooperating teacher for teacher candidates in field/practicum and student teaching placements.

- Offered entirely online
- No cost to participants*
  - 14 modules; one per week
- Class starts Tuesday, 1/28/2020

Learn about these and other topics
- roles & responsibilities of all parties
- professional boundaries & relationships
- student teaching & field expectations
- communication & resolving conflicts
- supporting students with edTPA
- social media & responsible use of technology

For more details, contact Gary Willhite Educational Studies

gwillhite@uwlax.edu | 608-785-8130

*UW-La Crosse offers a course fee waiver when the CI-695 student signs an agreement indicating their willingness to serve as a cooperating teacher for pre-student teachers (field students) or student teachers in the future. Interested CI 695 students must be admitted to UWL by Tuesday, January 21st and meet the course prerequisites: a baccalaureate degree, teacher certification and PK-12 teaching experience. Enrollment information can be found on the UWL website at www.uwlax.edu/admissions/. If you are already admitted, registration opens DEC 9th. Space is limited to 20 participants.