

Should I submit a proposal to the College Writing Symposium?

HOW TO SUBMIT TO THE UWL COLLEGE WRITING SYMPOSIUM

The English Department invites ENG 110/112 students to submit proposals for undergraduate writing projects that showcase their ability to engage in thoughtful, critical, and innovative work.

We are particularly interested in projects by students who are learning

- how to find, evaluate, analyze, and synthesize a variety of texts.
- how to integrate the ideas of others with their own.

We have designed an open call for proposals to encourage as many students as possible to participate in this year's symposium--proposals on any topic and in any genre will be accepted.

Submission Guidelines: Students should submit a title and a brief proposal of 100 words or fewer by Monday, November 11th. The format of the symposium will be one-hour concurrent sessions. Students should budget presentations for approximately 10-15 minutes per presenter.

To submit a proposal for this year's symposium, please follow this link:

https://uwlax.ca1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV\_73xNM3M7r6ErNwF

The Writing Center will run a workshop in early November for students who would like additional help in preparing for the symposium. Symposium Date: Monday, November 25th.

If you have additional questions, please contact Dr. Darci Thoune, First-Year Writing Program Coordinator (dthoune@uwlax.edu).