

LITERATURE UWL ENGLISH

Take a look at our pairing menu!

1 BIOLOGY + LITERATURE

This pairing provides the best of both worlds: the scientific and the humanistic. A great option for pre-med students or biology majors considering careers working with patients or clients, this pairing provides the biological expertise needed to understand systems as well as the empathy and ability to read people that comes from the study of literature.

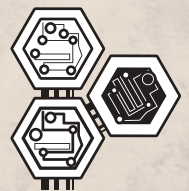

2 PSYCHOLOGY + LITERATURE

Psychology pairs really nicely with literature because both fields address the human subject. While psychology gives you the tools for studying the brain and how it processes information, literature provides case studies, fictional and factual, in the human condition.

3 COMPUTER SCIENCE + LITERATURE

Whether you're interested in creating video games and web content, or considering ways to connect computer applications to real users, literature can prepare you to write effective narratives and to picture your program's audience, enabling you to more effectively interface between product and user.

4 POLITICAL SCIENCE + LITERATURE

Political science and public administration are naturally social disciplines, highlighting interactions between people. Studying interactions and exhibitions of empathy in literature can serve as an excellent model for those considering careers in politics, public policy, and law.

5 YOU + LITERATURE

Want to know how literature pairs with math? History? Archeology? Chemistry? Marketing? Art? Something else? We'd love to discuss more pairing options with you!

Want to know more? Ask your English professor about our Literature major/minor or contact us at english@uwlax.edu or by calling (608)785-8295.