

Suicide Prevention Summit

Raising awareness and hope in the community

Welcome

Suicide Prevention Summit

Thursday, September 23, 2021

8:30 a.m.–4:30 p.m. CENTRAL TIME

Increase your understanding of suicide, its prevalence and the risk factors for specific populations, and acquire tools for prevention, assessment and intervention.

Due to public health concerns related to the pandemic, participants are expected to wear masks at the 2021 Suicide Prevention Summit. Additionally, we are limiting the number of attendees to 125 (50% of normal capacity).

Our goal is to hold an in-person event in La Crosse, Wisconsin. Should local health guidelines become more restrictive due to COVID-19, the event will switch to a virtual format.

Keynote presenters

Cory Wallack, Ph.D.

Cory Wallack, Ph.D., is the Executive Director for Health and Wellness at Syracuse University. In this capacity, Dr. Wallack oversees the integrated offices of counseling, health, health promotion, and recreation. Prior to the Executive Director role, Dr. Wallack served as the Director of Counseling at Syracuse University for ten years and held a Clinical Faculty appointment in Syracuse University's department of Counseling and Human Services, where he taught courses on crisis intervention and cultural foundations of counseling. At Syracuse, Dr. Wallack serves on the Chancellor's Task Force on Sexual and Relationship Violence, the Senior Vice President's Council on Diversity and Inclusion, the University Senate committee on Diversity and Inclusion, the Threat Assessment and Management Team, and the Enterprise Risk Management Team.

During his time at Syracuse University, Dr. Wallack developed Campus Connect: A Suicide Prevention Training for Gatekeepers. In 2007 the Suicide Prevention Resource Center and the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention recognized Campus Connect as a National Best Practice. Currently, 175 campuses across the United States and Canada utilize Campus Connect and Dr. Wallack has served as a trainer and consultant for many of these campuses. Dr. Wallack has previously served as an advisory board member for the Jed Foundation, a grant reviewer for Garret Lee Smith Suicide Prevention grant applications, was a project contributor to the Higher Education Mental Health Alliance's Guide for Response to Suicide on College Campuses, and has conducted numerous presentations at national conferences related to collegiate mental health and suicide prevention.

Debbie L. Fuehrer, M.A., LPCC

Debbie L. Fuehrer, M.A., LPCC is employed as a Mind-Body Medicine Counselor in Integrative Medicine and Health at Mayo Clinic, working with Dr. Amit Sood since 2010. She has a master's degree in counseling and psychological services and is a Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor with the academic rank of Instructor in Medicine, Mayo College of Medicine. She provides counseling services to patients, educational activities and presentations related to IMH Mind-Body practices, including the topics of stress management, anxiety reduction and hypnosis to other healthcare professionals and groups external to Mayo. She coordinates Integrative Medicine and Health, Mind-Body program/services including clinical practice, education and research initiatives. She provided crisis assessment and counseling for Olmsted County Diversion Program as a mental health professional through Zumbro Valley Health Center for several years. During her internship at the Federal Medical Center–Rochester, she started the theatre program for inmates at the mental health unit, directing plays and substituting for actors when needed. She co-wrote a play workshopped at FMC which was presented at the Rochester Repertory Theatre in January, 2019.

Concurrent presenters

✕ Vincent I. Anani, M.P.H.

Vincent I. Anani, M.P.H., is an experienced Toastmaster and public speaker. He collaborates with NIH-funded investigators at the Mayo Clinic to support a nationwide consortium for the Study of Chronic Pancreatitis, Diabetes, and Pancreatic Cancer (CPDPC). As a trained scientist and an artist at heart, Vincent is also an actor, and he is passionate about the use of the arts to improve health and wellness education, drive self-improvement, and create platforms for inclusion

Michael Anand, Ph.D.

 Michael Axeitov, Ph.D.

I am currently a Professor in the Psychology Department, Director of the Human Development Center, and Chair of the Institutional Review Board for the Protection of Human Subjects. In the Psychology Department, I teach courses in the graduate School Psychology Program involving developmental psychopathology and evidence-based interventions, and supervise the school psychology internship. I teach undergraduate courses in child and adolescent development and the History of Psychology, and supervise independent studies in child clinical and pediatric psychology. I am a licensed psychologist and a Nationally Certified School Psychologist. My clinical and research interests involve an area of psychology referred to as behavioral pediatrics. Behavioral pediatrics is the intersection of primary care pediatrics and behavioral psychology. I specifically address routine problems of childhood and adolescence that have potentially negative consequences including enuresis (bedwetting), temper tantrums, and childhood anxiety. I'm also interested in helping parents and teachers solve problems involving Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), delinquency, and learning.

As Director of the Human Development Center (HDC), I oversee the clinical training of undergraduate and graduate students from multiple disciplines including psychology. Students working in the HDC provide clinical services to children, adolescents, and families in the region under the direct supervision of faculty and staff. Many undergraduate students from the Psychology Department gain valuable clinical and research experiences in the HDC providing academic (e.g., reading, math) assessments and interventions to children with identified learning and behavioral problems.

I received a BA in English and Sociology and an M.Ed. in Counseling Psychology and Human Development from St. Lawrence University in Canton, NY. I received a Ph.D. in School Psychology from Indiana University in Bloomington, IN. I have formal clinical training through Father Flanagan's Girls and Boys Town in Omaha, NE. Prior to coming to UWEC in 2008, I held clinical, research, training, and administrative positions at Girls and Boys Town and the Eastern Maine Medical Center in Bangor, ME.

 Mike Crum M.S.W.

My greatest strength is in helping others find solutions, and strategies to addressing a service member or veterans needs. Whether that is benefits, education benefits, resources, mental health care, or other services, I strive on being able to find a solution.

I currently work as a Master Resiliency Trainer for the Army National Guard. Resilience Training is such a valuable tool in helping Soldiers process their thoughts, emotions, and regulating behavior. Through Resiliency training we hope to decrease suicide, break stigma about getting help and help NCO's, Commanders and Staff NCO's in providing better leadership in their units.

✕ Tamera Hill, M.S., LMFT

Tamera L. Hill, M.S., LMFT, is a dually Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist, with almost twenty years of experience as a clinician. She has worked in community mental health organizations as well as provided counsel as an independent practitioner, specializing in couples and relationship therapy. As a speaker, consultant, and trainee, she has engaged her community to further promote awareness of mental health concerns. In addition to working in the field of psychotherapy, she has also taught as an adjunct instructor for over a decade, serving both undergraduate psychology and graduate mental health counseling departments. She has earned an award for adjunct professor of the year as well as being nominated for professor of the year. Currently, she is pursuing a doctoral degree in counselor education and supervision.

✕ Carol Klose Smith, Ph.D.

Carol Klose Smith, Ph.D., LPC, NCC, ACS, is an assistant professor at Viterbo University where she teaches Crisis and Trauma. She holds a B.S. in psychology from North Dakota State University, a MS.Ed. in clinical mental health counseling from Western Illinois University and a Ph.D. in Counselor Education and Supervision from the University of Iowa. Dr. Klose Smith is licensed as a Licensed Professional Counselor, is a nationally certified counselor and holds an advanced supervisor credentials. She has worked as a counselor educator for the past 13 years and has over 11 years of full-time experience as a counselor in a variety of settings.

✕ Laura Lindroth, M.P.H.

Laura Lindroth is Director of Programming and Community Engagement at Rainbows for All Children. She is committed to expanding the number of peer support groups offered worldwide, and adapting an equitable, evidence-based training and curriculum to best support all children and adolescents. Advocating for the support of children who have experienced loss and trauma as an effective means to prevent poor health outcomes is her passion. Laura was a Peace Corps HIV/AIDS volunteer in Jamaica; she has also led capacity-building projects for global public health, including children's malnutrition and disaster relief efforts in Haiti, smoking prevention, cessation and policy implementation, and health promotion for youth. She has a Bachelor of Science in Communication/Photojournalism from Boston University and a Master of Public Health in International Health and Development/Community Health Education from Tulane University. Laura lives in Evanston, IL with her chef husband, their three adolescents, two cats and a gecko.

✕ Timothy Markle M A

Tim Markle earned his Masters in Counseling from John Carroll University and his Masters in Christian Studies from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School. Tim is married and is the father of two children, one of whom is on the Autism Spectrum. For the last nine years, he has worked for the Waisman Center at the University of Wisconsin Madison. He started working, in partnership with the Children and Youth with Special Health Care program in the Wisconsin Department of Health Services, to implement a state plan around ASD and other DD to improve the system of care providing leadership to a statewide resources mapping project and a statewide community of practice. Over the last nine years, Tim has worked with the CYSHCN program along with the Newborn Screening Program and the Waisman Center Clinics. In 2016 Tim was hired as the Director of the Southern Regional Center for CYSHCN. He also works with the LEND program, the Youth Health Transition Initiative and the Genetics System

Integration Hub. Throughout the last nine years, Tim's family influence has blended with his professional responsibilities resulting in a "family-centeredness" in all he does.

Sponsorship cost:

Summit sponsorships offer marketing opportunities that provide increased visibility to attendees. Currently, we are planning for an in-person event. Depending upon public health guidance closer to the event, it may be moved to a virtual format. Please register and submit your logo by August 30, 2021 to be included in conference materials. Consider the following levels of sponsorship to match your goals and budget:

Sponsor Registration
