Dear students and colleagues,

We continue to manage our response to COVID-19 and would like to give you updates on a number of important topics, including our "Eagles Return Safely" plan, as well as budget impact information. My colleagues in the university leadership team and I would like to invite you to an open forum this week.

What: Live webinar/electronic forum.

When: 10:30 a.m., Thursday, September 24.

Where: uwlax.edu/go/covid19-campus-update

During the webinar our leadership team will address topics that are on the minds of our campus community. Like our last webinar/eForum, there will be the opportunity for you to email questions to us that we will answer as best we can. (And if you'd like to be sure your question is answered please reply to this message now with it and we'll begin creating our list.)

Also, if you're not able to participate at 10:30 on Thursday morning, our webinar/eForum will be recorded for you to view at an alternate time. And as always, we will work to provide closed-captioning for anyone who needs it.

The leadership team and I look forward to connecting with you soon. Until then, thanks for your continued dedication to keeping our university moving forward during these challenging times!

Take good care,

Joe
