 - Sustainability as a strategic initiative
 - Digital measures modifications to reflect engagement in sustainability-oriented projects in teaching, scholarship, and service
 - JCES name change
 - Reduction of herbicide and pesticide use on campus - potential for evaluating what current practices are on campus; won't hurt to pursue changes depending on what is feasible to use as a replacement method.
 - A sub-issue - the solitary nesting bees on campus that are active in May/June and how to protect them during their critical nesting time. A focus on celebrating instead of tolerating them. Kelly Nowicki suggests using Marketing and Advertising students who would be looking for a project for classes. Collaborating with Biology students (encouraging Green Fund applications for projects to promote this). SFS e-newsletter.

Guests:

Bobby Piper
Bob Hetzel

1. Introductions
2. Discussion of absentee members of JCES:
 - a. Considering a floating student representative position on JCES for representation (or student "at large" seat for JCES) - this may make it easier for students to fill the spot since many students have class at 11:00 on Fridays; Consider for next meeting and vote on action for adjusting bylaws on this aspect of service and membership

2. Discussion of SUFAC proposal to change Green Fund bylaws to cover a $25,000 deficit:
 - a. Judy Arney was present at Student Senate on November 3rd when this discussion occurred. Judy wanted JCES to be aware that this seems like a widely supported proposal within SUFAC and JCES needs to be aware as this would affect the amount of Green Fund monies available for sustainability projects on campus.
 - b. Suggestions:
 - i. Have a JCES faculty/staff and student come to SUFAC meeting on Monday to present our concerns about the use of Green Fund not in alignment with its original priority and goals;
 - ii. Speaking at Student Senate meeting on Wednesday to have a wider discussion (Bridget Fish will be in attendance)
 - iii. Strategize about potential avenues to help SUFAC cover the deficit
3. Dan Sweetman sharing news about winning the award for Institutional Energy Management (great news!)

It's important milestones to share and increase visibility of this achievement. Article in campus connection? Dan Sweetman will ask Doug Pearson to write a short article for Campus Connection.
4. James Longhurst teaching a Sustainable Transportation class Spring 2016
5. Alysa Remsburg, teaches Environmental Sustainability on campus and wants students to have authentic learning opportunities through campus projects. She is wanting to get ideas from JCES on suggestions for sustainability projects on campus that are important for moving forward.

- a. Project suggestions:

 - a. Funding bike share program on campus and community for a total request of $65,000 (over three years). 12 bikes on campus, 3 years to see how the program would work over the longer term and build ridership; UWL bike hub would be the first in La Crosse and others could sign on after to increase bikes per capita in the community, increasing sustainable transportation for students and community members. Zagster is the provider and facilitator; they assume all liability; UWL logo
 - b. Barrett moves to vote on approval; Kelly seconds; Green Fund Coordinator (Rachel Steffen) has already approved. Dan Sweetman suggests we wait to review all applications at one time to make sure we consider all projects at once for potential approval. Voting is tabled until all applications are submitted.

2. Discussion to organize projects by level of importance on the whiteboard (represented in table format). It is suggested that we vote on their approval based on how they are organized by importance after group agreement. Rachel motions to vote on the proposals as a package for approval; Spenser seconds. There is further discussion. JCES members then all vote against as it was pointed out that the package voting would not work based on subtle disagreement on priority.
3. Discussion moves to evaluation/voting of Green Fund Proposals each individually again:
 - a. Ride Share Bike Program- discussed last meeting; proposal is reexamined for the adjustments and recommendations that JCES suggested for improving the proposal and clarifying program details, including size, where revenue from the program goes, and possibility for student internships within the program. Total project amount: $61,280
 - i. How does this impact the UWL Green Bikes and Outdoor Connection bike rentals? Different spans of time for rental and price competitive. It's possible that these programs would be affected but not clear what level of impact.
 - ii. Can stop the program at any time if we're not satisfied. Proposal is for 3 years but UWL could stop at any time if it's not working.
 - iii. JCES voting and recommendations on this proposal:
 1. Motion to recommend this proposal at high priority/importance (Victor), Bill seconds. 8 in favor; 3 opposed, 1 abstained.
 - b. Solar Photovoltaic fixed roof system for the REC addition - a proposal that is reworked and resubmitted from last Spring 2016. Total project cost: $100,000
 - i. REC would do upkeep on the panels.
 - ii. What is the electricity savings by doing this? 4% of the annual electric would be conserved by using this system, saving an estimated $3500. This would be a 30-40 year payback for the system. Questions arising over visibility of the effort to move toward sustainability (seeing the solar panels) versus the actual cost savings and how this will directly impact or benefit students (limited payback and limited direct impact on student body).
 - iii. JCES voting and recommendations on this proposal:
 1. Rachel moves to vote on moderate priority/importance; Rachel Steffen moved, Bill Doering seconds; 7 in favor; 5 against; 0 abstain.
 - c. Proposal for Garden Towers (6 in total) for Student Union by Chartwell's Sr. Chef Robb Hanson; Project total cost: $6,413.
 - i. Proposal to have garden towers to provide supplemental greens, herbs, and some vegetables for the campus dining system; an aero-hydroponic system that is proven technology that can be used indoor as well as outdoor; student interest and support for this opportunity.

- ii. Where placed in Student Union? Student access to them or just observing? Potential for student internships for care over the summer and through the semesters; Outreach and teaching opportunities for those interested in learning.
- iii. JCES voting and recommendations on this proposal:
 - 1. Kay motions; Victor seconds for high priority/importance; 12 in favor; 0 opposed; 0 abstain

d. Outdoor Connection proposal to repurpose trees that will be affected by the construction of the REC addition. Project total: $14,933

- i. Cost for 4 trees to be repurposed would actually be $8,953, turned into sculptural pieces that would also be functional for the OC space that people could see and use.
- ii. Including signage to tell the story of how the trees were repurposed.
- iii. JCES voting and recommendations on this proposal:
 - 1. Motion for approving at moderate priority/importance (Rachel moves), Bill seconds; 7 in favor, 5 opposed, 0 abstain

e. Colletid Pollinator Outreach campaign on campus; Project total cost: $1000

- i. Table this for next meeting.

4. Move to adjourn (Shannon); Ben seconds. Meeting adjourned at 12:25 pm.

2. Revisiting and finalizing subcommittee assignments
 - a. Do we need conveners? May be necessary in some groups; leave up to each subcommittee.
3. Evaluation of mini Green Fund application - Colletid pollinator awareness campaign; project total $2000
 - a. Bringing awareness to pollinators that use campus as habitat; sign postings that will stand up to the weather and elements, lectures, presentations, and education available.
 - b. Spenser asks questions about choice of printer and when that would be made (expenses would relate to this choice); Dennis asks if pollinator nesting sites shift from year to year (Barrett believes that they use the same locations year-to-year).
 - c. Dan Sweetman urges that any signage will need to be designed with open communication with facilities management regarding placement, design (university standards for exterior signage), and installation. All this would need to be approved through Dr. Hetzel before moving forward.
 - d. Related questions and concerns - is there anything the Grounds department should not be doing in the spring to protect the nesting grounds? Barrett indicates that there should be some discussions. Currently there are plans to renovate Wittich Hall and one of the nesting areas may be in danger of excavation as the renovation begins (Barrett needs to contact Scott Schumacher asap to start discussions about protecting the habitat).
4. Discussion of possibly inviting Alex Lueck (Xcel Energy) to discuss the Solar Program at UW-Eau Claire & UW-Stout.
 - a. Dan Sweetman adds that Alex would be attending with interests in finding funding for this effort.

 - a. JCES supports the visit from Alex
6. Discussion of new proposals for this semester:
 - a. Should JCES devote two meetings to Green Fund proposals (vs. 1) to have enough time to examine and vote on them?
 - i. Deadline for project proposals will be earlier so there is more time to evaluate and examine each.
 - ii. Need to provide more context on the projects when they are referred to SUFAC to help make their decisions easier for them when trying to approve Green Fund projects.
 - iii. We need to have a discussion with SUFAC about their expectations for feedback from JCES on Green Fund projects. Perhaps inviting a SUFAC representative to sit on JCES.

8. Subcommittee updates:

campaign to help students and campus community understand what's happening here? That is the intent but need to pick up the pace on this (any volunteers to help?); getting University Communications involved (Kirsten and James Bushman).

- c. Sustainability coordination - Dan has student interns working on website information consolidation and more user-friendly for information sharing and mobile viewing. Continuity in the internships? The hope is to have someone in place during the academic year but we could attach responsibility to the managers of the Green Fund.
