No year listed

Erik Halverson is a machine tender for the Packaging Corporation of America in Tomahawk, Wis.

'64

Neil Duresky recently retired from the La Crosse Regional Airport Aviation Board after 11 years of membership. He is a bass player in four jazz bands.

'76

Joseph Lewis is an author based in Fredericksburg, Va. He has written 10 books in the thriller-crime-mystery genre and has received many awards for his writing. All of his work is available in Kindle, Audible and paperback format. For more on Lewis, visit www.jrlewisauthor.com.

'79

Jeff Witmer, a professor at Oberlin College in Ohio, has received a Founders Award from the American Statistical Association (ASA). This is ASA's highest honor. Witmer was recognized for his extensive service to statistics education spanning four decades; for serving as editor of Stats Magazine and editor-in-chief of the Journal of Statistics and Data Science Education; for founding and maintaining the Isolated Statisticians group; for service as chair of the Section on Statistics and Data Science Education; for co-authoring both college-level GAISE reports that have substantially influenced introductory statistics education nationwide; and for continually serving as a masterful expositor of statistical ideas through his writing, teaching, and mentoring.

'82

Mike Strehlow, stepped down from his role as a news anchor for CBS 58 in Milwaukee, after nearly 30 years with the station. Strehlow's career as a reporter brought him everywhere from city hall to the streets of Cuba to the deck of an aircraft carrier. In 2014, he was inducted into the Chicago/Midwest Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences Silver Circle, recognizing individuals with 25 years of experience in television, and who have made significant contributions to their local market.

Strehlow began his career with WXOW in La Crosse in 1982, after earning a bachelor's degree in mass communications from UWL.

David Johnson

'92

David Johnson, assistant athletic director of Media Relations at UWL, was named the university's 2024-25 Student Employee Supervisor of the Year. In his role, Johnson is responsible for all aspects of the athletic program's media relations strategy. Each year, he works with a staff of four to six students who assist in telling the story of the Eagles' teams and student-athletes. Johnson has also hired multiple interns during his time at UWL. Multiple individuals who have worked under Johnson as a student employee, practicum student or intern have gone on to work in college athletics and professional sports.

Biking and bonding

'83, and Rebecca Schield (Weber), '83; Sara (Schoenknecht) Kessler, '82; Keith Krumholz, '83, and Susie Krumholz (Wollin), '81; Leslie Saftig and Dan Saftig, '81. Sara Kessler says: "It was such a fun trip. We have been 'ride or die' friends since college and have shared and supported each other through many ups and downs over these past 50 years. Our times together are precious and unforgettable!"

A walk down memory lane

A group of friends from the classes of 1973 and 1974 recently visited UWL to reflect on their college experience and see how campus has changed. The seven alumni first met as roommates in 1969 and now meet every few years to reconnect. "While we were together, (we were) reminded of how important UW-La Crosse has been to all of us," says Pam Garman (Anderson), '73. Pictured from left: Pam Garman (Anderson), Janet Amann (Adell), Debbie Legro (Diercks), Carol Pearce (Sullivan), Nancy Farnham (Wirth), Kay Doyle (Hensel) and Barb Johnson (Pinter).
