Sean Smith, PE, project leader, Trane
"This Project Management Certificate Program was perfect for me because it was flexible and self-directed so it fit well into my tight schedule. The discussions with Kay made the coursework tangible and directly applicable to a multi-year project I am managing at Trane. I would absolutely recommend the UW-La Crosse Project Management Certificate Program to others without hesitation."

CERTIFICATION TRACKS

Certification is awarded after you complete 6 sessions and 56 hours of project management learning activities. Your project management certification training can be customized in various ways to make it relevant to your professional goals. Three of our popular tracks for certification are:

Project Management Professional (PMP®) exam prep track. This track completely covers the PMBOK® content and helps you to prepare to sit for the exam.

Learning Project Management Fundamentals. Select a project from within your organization to professionally plan, as part of your certification training. Using a real-world project is an outstanding learning opportunity because it can be used to illustrate, apply, and practice project management principles within a practical situation. In addition, your organization receives immediate tangible value because you completed your certification training while successfully managing a challenging project at work.

Specific Industry Project Management or Special Topics. This track is for the project manager who is looking for industry specific study in project management or a deep dive into a specialty topic such as rescuing troubled projects, starting a PMO, Agile, or other areas of interest.

Our project management certification training is uniquely rewarding because this real-world approach enhances the learning experience and enhances project management competencies.
