September is Sexual Health Awareness Month

Sexual Health Awareness Month encourages people to learn about all dimensions of sexual health. Check out the 5 Circles of Sexuality!

For college students, sexual health can mean a lot of things. Remember, safe sex is the best sex! This month, we're teaching UWL students about STI prevention/testing, consent and healthy relationships, sexuality and gender identity, and more.

Join us at the SexPert Panel!

Featuring Drs. Keely Rees and Casey Tobin, Blythe McConaughy, Kelli Cornett and Emily from Planned Parenthood, and Amanda Hanson, NP

OKSOBERfest

Stay safe during Oktoberfest with these tips!

- Stick together, drink with a group you trust
- Know what you're drinking
- Keep your drink in sight and covered at all times
- Know your limits
- Eat before drinking
- Don't drink and drive, use Safe Ride for free
- Drink non-alcoholic beverages in between drinks

UWL Responsible Action Policy

In order to encourage students to call for help if someone may be in danger from alcohol or drug use, Responsible Action protects the caller from police citation and/or university discipline for alcohol-related offenses.

If an underage person is intoxicated from alcohol use, and calls 911 because a friend is unresponsive after drinking, the caller will not get an underage drinking ticket if they stay with the impaired individual, cooperate with emergency responders, and follow through with programs deemed necessary by the Dean of Students.
