1. From your WINGS account landing page, select What If Report from the other academics...drop down list. Click the run icon.

2. Click Create New Report
3. Your current academic information (major/minors) defaults in the Program Scenario portion of the display. You can add or subtract current programs/plans.

Configure your selections from left to right starting with Academic Program, then Area of Study. There are no Concentration selections. The first row is the major and the second and third rows are for second majors and/or minors, emphases, or concentrations. Select up to three plans. You can also browse the course catalog to add courses to your What If AR (not required to run the What If AR).

Click the Submit Request button to generate the What-If AR Report.

4. To run another What If scenario, select the My Academics link at the bottom of the What-If Report.
5. Select the Create a what-if scenario link. This takes you back to the main What-If Report page.

The system saves the last What If Report that was generated. You can either view the saved scenario or create a new report.
