Dear friends, alumni and distinguished guests:

From our storied beginnings in 1909, when the La Crosse Normal School was founded, to our place of prominence today in 2014, the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse has grown into one of the best public universities in the country. Thus we can be proud of many things – in particular, today’s graduating class.

Earlier this year, U.S. News & World Report ranked UW-L No. 4 among public universities in the Midwest who offer bachelor’s and master’s degrees, the highest ranking of any UW institution in this category. And we also now are ranked No. 4 in Kiplinger Magazine’s list of the Top 100 Values in American Public Higher Education over $30,000, further recognition of our strong national leadership in advanced education.

A commitment to excellence exists throughout the UW-L campus, and the accomplishments listed on page 5 showcase some of our most notable achievements. But the greatest testament to our tradition of academic excellence is the group of outstanding students who make up today’s graduating class. Each one of them is a point of pride, and we’re so very grateful for that.

So on behalf of the staff and faculty here at UW-L it’s my pleasure to thank you for joining us today to celebrate the crowning achievement of the university experience. The future holds great promise for our graduates, and I hope you are as proud of them as we are!

Best wishes,

Joe Gow

Commencement ushers are members of the Vanguard organization.

Note: Sound-enhancement earphones are available for hearing-impaired guests. Ask an usher if you would like to use the earphones. Please return them to an usher after the ceremony.

A reception for graduates and their family and friends will be held immediately following the ceremony. Please proceed to South Hall to meet your graduate. A map of the La Crosse Center can be found on page 12.
Academic Dress
The academic apparel worn by faculty and staff in the processional has its origins in the universities of the Middle Ages. Because the universities grew out of church schools, both faculty and students were regarded as part of the clergy, and wore clerical clothing based on monastic dress.

The head covering developed from the skull cap worn to protect tonsured heads in cold weather. In the universities, the skull cap acquired a point at the top which gradually evolved into a tassel. In Europe, the bonnet with a tassel is still worn, but has been replaced in America by the mortar board cap or tam with a tassel.

The style of the gown may have been borrowed from the Benedictine monk’s habit. In the Middle Ages, those with bachelor’s and master’s degrees could be distinguished by the simplicity or elaborateness of their gowns. The master’s gowns were often furred, a decoration surviving as the three velvet bars now used on the sleeves of the doctoral gown.

The hood was originally worn over the head in bad weather, and otherwise dropped onto the shoulders. First worn by faculty and students, the hood is now added to the apparel of those with master’s and doctoral degrees. The color of the velvet trim on the hood indicates the scholarly field, for example, dark blue (philosophy), golden yellow (science), light blue (education), pink (music), apricot (nursing), drab (business), and white (arts). The colors of the satin lining are those approved and authorized by the college or university from which the degree was earned.

Medallion Symbolizes Authority
Wearing a medallion or seal of office has been a symbol of authority since the Middle Ages. The seal marked official documents then; heads of institutions wore the seal around the neck to keep it in their possession. The chancellor’s medallion features a design and materials that reflect UW-La Crosse. The mokume-gane or “wood grain metal” used is a specialty of the campus jewelry studio.

Mace Shows Quest for Truth
Once a weapon in medieval combat, the mace was adopted by universities as a symbol of the power of the quest for truth. The mace is carried in the commencement ceremony by a distinguished senior faculty member. William R. Fiorini, a UW-L art professor, designed and made the medallion and mace, which were used for the first time at the inauguration of Chancellor Judith L. Kuipers in September 1992.

The mace and medallion were given to the University by Mary Hebberd and Ruth Nixon-Davy, professors emeriti. Silver plaques on the medallion box and mace stand acknowledge these gifts.

Symbols of Academic Achievement
Many undergraduate students are wearing items that reflect high academic achievement. Commencement Honors are designated by silver cords, and are worn by students who have at least a 3.50 cumulative grade point average. Those wearing gold cords have earned Commencement Highest Honors with at least a 3.75 average. Members of the Golden Key International Honour Society are wearing a medallion on a blue and gold neck ribbon. The organization is open to the top 15 percent of graduating seniors in various fields of study. Discipline-specific honor organizations are represented by a variety of other cords.

International Flags and Sashes
The international flags displayed on the commencement platform represent the home countries of international students attending the University. Sashes are worn by graduates who studied abroad. Each sash represents the country in which the student studied.

College Banners
The banners used in the processional represent the colleges of the university and the colors indicate the scholarly fields within the colleges. The banners were designed by Arla Wojahn, Educational Technology Center, class of ’04 and were produced by Chris Jackson, Mt. Borah, class of ’91. They were first used at the inauguration of Chancellor Joe Gow in October 2007.
Even more reasons to be a proud UW-La Crosse graduate ...

- U.S. News & World Report’s 2015 America’s Best Colleges list of Best Regional Universities in the Midwest lists UW-L as the state’s top and No. 4 public university in the Midwest among institutions providing undergraduate majors and master’s programs.
- UW-L Biology Professor Scott Cooper received the 2014 Wisconsin Professor of the Year Award from the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. UW-L History Professor Victor Macias-González received the award in 2013 and UW-L History Professor Greg Wegner received the honor in 2011.
- For the second year in a row, UW-L received the Higher Education Excellence in Diversity award from INSIGHT Into Diversity magazine, honoring universities with outstanding commitment to diversity and inclusion.
- UW-L student-athletes posted the highest combined GPA among the nine Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Conference institutions in 2013-14, finishing with a cumulative 3.240 GPA. The Eagles also recorded the highest number of student-athletes with a cumulative GPA of 3.00 or better (348, approximately 62 percent of the student-athlete population).
- UW-L again reached record enrollment in fall 2014 with 10,558 undergraduate and graduate students — about 130 more students than fall 2013, also a record.
- In fall 2015, the American Institute of Physics ranked UW-L No. 2 in the nation for the number of physics degrees it awards annually among bachelor’s degree granting programs from 2010-12.
- The Wisconsin State Council on Affirmative Action presented the UW-L Eagle Mentoring Program with the 2014 Ann Lydecker Educational Diversity Award, given to the UW System campus that has made the most measurable demonstration of initiatives and practices toward the recruitment and retention of a diverse student body.
- Kiplinger’s Personal Finance listed UW-L No. 4 among its 25 Best College Values Under $30,000 a Year in 2014. It’s the only Wisconsin campus to make the national rank. UW-L is also among Kiplinger’s top 100 colleges and universities in the country for delivering academic quality and affordability.
- The UW-L men’s track & field team captured its 17th National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division III indoor championship in March 2014 — an NCAA III record. The indoor and outdoor track and field teams also won the 2013 NCAA III championships.
- UW-L has been awarded to host the 2017 NCAA III Wrestling Championships and the 2018 NCAA III Women’s and Men’s Outdoor Track & Field Championships.
- UW-L Interim Director of Athletics Kim Blum was named 2013-14 National Association of Collegiate Women Athletics Administrators (NACWAA) Administrator of the Year for the NCAA Division III.
- UW-L Exercise and Sport Science Department Chair Mark Gibson was inducted into the National Athletic Trainers’ Association Hall of Fame in summer 2014.
- UW-L’s “It Make$ Cents!” financial literacy program received the 2013 Wisconsin Financial Literacy Award from the Department of Financial Institutions.
- Biology Professor Roger Haro received the 2014 UW System Board of Regents Diversity Award.
- UW-L ranks No. 30 nationally for students studying abroad. UW-L has the fourth largest international student population among Wisconsin colleges.
- The UW System College Readiness Math MOOC — a Massive Open Online Course developed by UW-L faculty and staff — won the 2013 Desire2Excel award, a national honor for collaboration.
